BANKER SOUNDS A WARNING

When we pass through our cities, and look over the mighty public improvements, the great schools, and the marvelous municipal growth that has taken place in the last few years, we are prone to elevate our chests and cock our heads in pride.

Now improvements are necessary and fine, but there is a definite danger attached to all this sudden expansion and growth by our states, counties and municipalities.

The issue is very clearly defined by J. A. Graves, president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Los Angeles, in his annual message to customers of the bank. He says:

VAST BOND ISSUE
"States, counties and municipalities are daily assuming heavy burdens in the shape of additional bond issues for all sorts of improvements, some needed, some not, many superfluous, too often mere luxuries, and all built upon a most extravagant scale. The very size of the national wealth makes the flotation of these bonds an easy task. The people seem to forget that every bond issued creates an additional tax burden for many years to come."

DAUBTFUL PROSPERITY
"The money received from the sale of bonds creates prosperity while it is being spent. If the main object of a people's existence is to lavishly spend all the money they can lay their hands on, our people are undoubtedly functioning properly; whether wisely or not, is another question. The next generation will not bless this one, as it laboriously discharges the obligations which this generation has imposed upon it. Warning the voting public not to authorize more bonds, is about as effectual as attempting to stop a steam roller by dropping a pebble in front of it. The bonding habit seems to be in the blood of those who vote them, the majority of whom are not property owners."

MUST PAY FOR WAR
There is food for much thought in what Graves says, especially when we remember that we, our children and our grandchildren still have before us the prospect of paying for the great war, now over for years, but still drawing on our earnings, despite the fact that the United States of America is the richest nation on the face of the globe today.—WEST AMERICAN.

William Urquhart, high priest, had charge of the sessions.

INCOMES OVER $100,000 TO PAY SURTAX OF 20 PER CENT

All Day Fight In Senate Ends
In Adoption of Maximum
Surtax Rate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The maximum surtax rate of 20 per cent on incomes of $100,000 and over, as recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and written into the new revenue bill by the House, was adopted by the Senate tonight, without a record vote.

The decision came at the end of an all-day fight on the surtax rate in which all amendments and substitutes were voted down.

Just before the 20 per cent rate was approved, the Senate rejected an amendment by Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin increasing it to 25 percent on incomes of $500,000 and over.

Earlier in the day an amendment by Senator Norris of Nebraska fixing the maximum at 30 per cent on incomes of $1,000,000 and more was voted down 51 to 29.

An amendment by Senator Howell of Nebraska raising the maximum to 40 per cent on incomes of $500,000 and over went down, 70 to 15.

Another by Senator King of Utah cutting the surtax rates on incomes between $20,000 and $100,000 to rates lower than those in the House bill was defeated without a record vote.

The Senate also rejected the Howell amendment to impose upon incomes in excess of $60,000 graduated rates higher than contained in the administration's income tax bill.

When Mrs. Flora Littauer was dying of pneumonia two years ago he demanded of physicians, "There are serums for diphtheria and other diseases—haven't you anything for pneumonia?" They shook their heads. From that moment Littauer determined that if he could aid in a search he would.

Are Captured

DESCRIPTIONS FORWARDED

Jailor Was Seriously Injured
When Escape Was Made From Oakland Jail

OAKLAND, Feb. 3.—Two of the four prisoners who escaped from the county jail last month are thought to be in the hands of the police at Ponca, Oklahoma.

According to advices received by Sheriff Barnett, two men were arrested in a stolen car with a California license. The men are thought to be Edward Bridges and Louis Sisco, both convicted burglars.

Deputy sheriffs Joseph Soares and Jack Collier declare that the trail of stolen cars left by Sisco and Bridges in their flight across the continent points directly toward Oklahoma.

The deputies who are handling the case, declare that the fugitives stole their first car in San Leandro and then abandoned it at Mission San Jose, after stealing a faster car from the Metzger garage and changing the license plate.

"Medgeser" was the name given by one of the suspects held in Oklahoma and the deputies declare that this is an attempt to spell the name of Metzger who is the registered owner of the car.

The pair was traced by stolen cars to San Jose, San Diego, and last to Garden city, Kansas. According to Soares and Collier, an automobile stolen at that point was the one in the possession of the held pair.

Finger prints and descriptions of the four jail breakers were immediately dispatched to the Oklahoma authorities by the Alameda county officials.

The two men will be held for identification.

Jacob Fuhrn and Jack Saunders were the other two men who escaped. Tom Brown, who declared that he was forced to escape by the four, immediately surrendered himself.

Serious injuries to the head was received by Daniel Ferguson, the jailor, when the prisoners escaped. The four rushed him and struck him on the head with a heavy black-jack.

SECRETARY MELLON

Fortunate is the country which can command, in the adjustment of its finances during a crucial period, the services of such a man as Andrew W. Mellon. The magnitude of his service to the nation will perhaps never be fully appreciated, for he has done his work with no brass band accompaniment.

It means something financially to a man of Mr. Mellon's large interest and unquestioned financial genius to turn his back upon private business affairs and give his time solely to the national service. The earning power thus sacrificed over a period of several years runs into big figures.

Secretary Mellon has his reward, it is true, in the esteem of millions of level-headed patriotic Americans who realize the stupendous size of the task Secretary Mellon confronted when he took charge of the nation's disorganized finances at the beginning of the Harding administration, and that the benefits of the stability and prosperity which has ensued have extended to every citizen of the republic.

But such service, too, for a man of Secretary Mellon's size, carries with it penalties. He has become the target of the demagogue, whose political stock in trade is outcry against 'the rich.' These political scavengers have sought to find some crevice in the Mellon armor through which they could throw their javelins of defamation.

The fact that Mr. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury has run his office in the interests of the whole people rather than for political ends, has drawn attack not only upon Secretary Mellon but upon all the business enterprises with which he was actively connected before he assumed his office.

That a man of the Mellon quality is willing to accept high office in the face of certain assault by the muckrakers, the scandal mongers, the small-bore politicians who think of no public problem except in terms of votes, is a testimonial to his patriotism.

When the story of the war period and the events following has been written by the impartial historian, the name of Andrew Mellon will stand forth as that of one of the greatest financiers this or any other country has ever produced. When his traducers have been forgotten his name will be remembered and honored by a grateful people.

The Battle With the Pequots

The Pequots were a band of Indians who worried and bullied and bothered their neighboring tribes. They were a terror in the new England forests in those early colonial days of the seventeenth century.

They had for their chief a savage named Chief Sassacus. He hated the white men who had come and taken the freedom of his forests from him. He hated them because they were pushing him farther and farther back into the interior. To him they were intruders.

He went about from tribe to tribe and tried to get them all to join with him in one great battle to drive these foreigners from the shores forever. He gloated as he thought how fine it would be to push them all right back into the ocean.

Two tribes, the Narragansetts and the Nipmucks, hated Sassacus and his Pequot too much to join them. These two tribes made alliances with the white men.

The Pequots must have done their sleeping by day for they spent the night prowling about the Connecticut colony now kidnapping, now murdering, always leaving a trail of terror behind them.

For a time they were satisfied with this sort of thing. But the thirst for blood and more blood was strong. And they became fiercer and more cruel in their nightly visits.

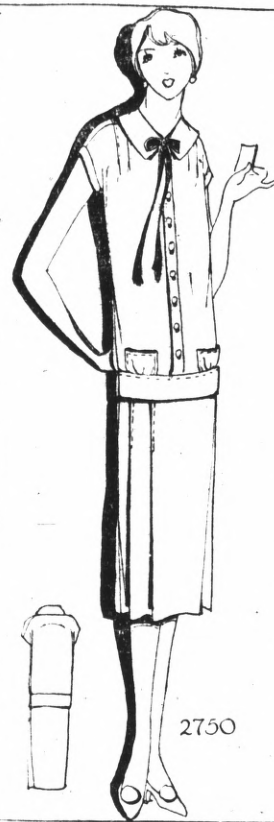

Until at last the wrath of the English was so fully aroused as to drive them to war.

There came a moonlit night. Everything was still. The Pequots, save perhaps for a few of their prowlers, were asleep. Suddenly there was a burst of gunfire, a volley of shots and a great shout. The white men of the colony with the help of about 400 Indians who were friendly to them, had stormed the village of the Pequots.

The battle was in the open and unexpected. The white men won a complete victory. Immediately the village was set afire and the battle raged continuously until there were no more than a half dozen of the cruel Pequots still alive.

They had played their game too long. After this war, one hears very little of their tribe for the white man had planned his battle well. He well nigh wiped the tribe out of existence. (Tomorrow: The "Blue Laws" of One Colony)

CHAPTER I

Molly wrung out another nondescript little two-legged garment, shook it fiercely between slim, brown hands, and tossed it over into the bluing water.

"I hate men, I hate marrying, I hate children," she announced tensely through set lips. "I hate them, I hate them, I hate them!" Molly's mother flattered back deprecatingly from the pot of clothes she had been stirring and gave an abstracted jog in passing to the crib of the temporarily youngest Shannon. Maggie Shannon was from the beginning to the end of each new offense perpetually in the apologetic mood. Before Molly's sternly accusing eyes she made propitiatory offerings—and promises for the future. The promises, to be sure, were never kept, for she seemed one of those to whom nothing but the confines of nature itself could get a bound.

"I wish you wouldn't talk like that," she said, in her gentle, diffident voice. "It always scares me. Life can do such terrible things to you if you hate it."

"It can, anyhow. Look what it's done to you. Besides, I don't hate life. I only hate the way one has to live it."

Mrs. Shannon shook her head. She glanced, furtively appealing, from Molly's profile of a very youthful destroying angel to the Jovian figure of galled and sock-footed ease which reclined on a battered wicker cot under the house's shaded lee. How that tumble-down, one-room-and-lean-to shack had managed to brood the yearly increasing "no count" tribe of Shannon, she glanced, furtively appealing, from Molly's profile of a very youthful destroying angel to the Jovian figure of galled and sock-footed ease which reclined on a battered wicker cot under the house's shaded lee. ## Tire Repairing Cold Cash In Your Pocket

There are two ways to take care of a tire injury. One way is to put a blowout patch in the tire and let it stay there.

The other way—and the only good way—is to use the blowout patch only as a temporary repair. At the first opportunity the tire should be taken to a competent and able vulcanizer for permanent repair. This means saving thousands of miles of the tire's life.

Faces Jail Term For Illegal Real Estate Deal

Is conviction for the offense of illegally receiving a large commission in a real estate transaction, sufficient for denial of a license for the offender?

That is the problem that Judge George S. Richardson of the Los Angeles Justice Court has put up to Commissioner J. R. Gabbert, as a result of the prosecution of Pat Shannon of Hollywood by the Real Estate Commissioner in which Shannon was found guilty of receiving a commission of $3200, although disallowed.

The justice denied that owing to the fact that Shannon was found guilty of a single offense, which is sufficient within the Real Estate law, to constitute a man a broker, he should be allowed to have a license. A 30 day jail sentence was imposed and suspended pending the securing of the license by Shannon.

And now comes the Real Estate Commissioner, who says that it will be necessary for Shannon to pass an examination to show that he is worthy to have a license to do a real estate business in California, and that among other things to be considered at the time of such examination will be the record of the case under which Shannon was convicted.

The next question is: "What will happen to Shannon's license?" Will Shannon then go to jail for thirty days?

Deputy Real Estate Commissioner E. H. Martin prosecuted Shannon.

BUILDING ON INCREASE HERE

Forty new buildings, a gain of 14 percent over January of 1925, were under construction here in January, according to a report of applications for new water service given out by the East Bay Water company.

Although a number of business houses and apartments are being erected in this city, building activities for the month consisted largely in home construction.

As soon as the rainy season is over indications point to unusual building activities the report states, as a great number of people are expected during the spring and early summer.

The report shows that the total buildings for the Eastbay district was 729 new buildings of which Richmond had a part. New people arrived from nineteen states, thirty-three California cities and Canada and Australia.

Second Jury Is Discharged In Golett Trial

The second trial of the Golett oil swindle case will be heard on March 2, but not by the jury, which was selected several weeks ago. Superior Judge Fred V. Wood of the Alameda County Superior court dismissed the jury that had heard part of the second trial as it had been delayed too long, due to first, the illness of Edwin Reeves, one of the four defendants, and then by the shooting of Attorney Wilbur S. Pierce of the defense.

The second trial jury was dismissed by mutual consent of both counsel. The move was opposed at first by T. M. Carlson, associate of Pierce, but he withdrew his objection, after conferring with Deputy District Attorney Reeves Wade Snook and Paul St. Sure.

Reeves, together with his wife, Mrs. Peggy Reeves, E. C. Peacock and Franklin Davis, are charged with conspiracy to commit grand larceny through stock sales, based on the story of the formation of a holding company for an $800,000 oil merger of which E. L. Foheny was represented as being the invisible hand.

A fifth defendant, James Gough, has pleaded guilty to a conspiracy charge. He is alleged to have passed as Foheny's confidential man, and is under sentence to San Quentin.

Special Channel for Shipping Announced During Construction

During the time the Dumbarton Highway Bridge across San Francisco Bay at Dumbarton Point is under construction and until the life span of this bridge is in operation, the channel between the bridge span west of the lift span and the bridge pier next west of said bridge span will be kept clear for navigation, according to John W. Schultz, U. S. District Engineer. This channel is marked at night by two red lights, placed three feet apart in a vertical line, at the west end of said bridge span, and two red lights placed similarly on the bridge pier next west of said span, the navigation channel being temporarily between the pairs of red light. In addition, the bridge spans as built will be marked at night by a horizontal row of red lights, spaced about 30 feet apart, extending from the edge of the temporary navigation channel in both directions along the bridge for a distance of two bridge spans.

A fog bell is located east of and adjacent to the temporary channel designated, at the western end of the existing bridge span just east of such channel. In foggy weather, navigators will keep this bell on the right or starboard side when proceeding through the bridge in a northerly direction, and on the left or port side when proceeding south.

Oakland Realtor Is Accused of Theft by Wife

OAKLAND, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Cora Slough, wife of McKinley Slough, who is being sought by Oakland police, today told Oakland police that she felt certain her husband was the leader of a gang of thieves which has been operating in Oakland for several weeks.

Mrs. Slough told of finding nearly $200 in small change hidden in the house this morning. Besides the money, other evidence was discovered by the wife to explain mysterious night excursions of her husband which she informed the police has puzzled her for several weeks. Slough told her wife that his real estate business kept him away at night much of the time.

An investigation was started this morning and the direction of the investigation was given to the Captain Thorne and Brown at the instigation of Chief of Police James T. Drew. To find how the two policemen sent to guard the Slough home permitted the man to escape in the trap set for him early today.

The fugitive was discovered by Sergeant Fred Barba and Patrolman Fred Tatum at the foot of Nineteenth avenue near Livingstone street, they reported. A gold auto attracted their attention. When they drove up the machine was driven rapidly away, despite the shout of the policemen to halt. The car was chased to Park Boulevard, where the man parked the machine and disappeared into an alley. Additional policemen from headquarters were summoned and the neighborhood was surrounded.

The police say Slough returned to his home a short time later and when he saw two officers near the house he darted away. He disappeared and other policemen were added to the posse in an effort to capture him.

Number of Real Estate Brokers Are Decreasing

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—Although the real estate department is being operated more economically than ever before, under the budget system, and less your returned a substantial sum to the general fund after paying all operating expenses, there is a possibility that its income in the near future will not be more than sufficient to take care of its own needs, according to a statement issued by J. R. Gabbert, real estate commissioner, today. He said in part:

"As an indication of the economic now practiced in the department, maintenance for 1925 was but $117,998.52, with a total of 53,368 persons licensed, while in 1922, there were but 37,294 persons licensed and maintenance costs totaled $123,028.85.

Since 1923, when there were 65,287 licenses granted, there has been a gradual decrease in the number of brokers, partly caused by the care in examining applicants under the educational qualification test. There is every evidence that this will continue to be true and that the income from brokers' licenses will decrease proportionately. There is also every reason to believe that future amendments to the act will require educational qualifications for salesmen and a greater obligation on the part of the salesmen, either to the brokers under whom they are licensed, or to the State.

There will undoubtedly be an increased cost in the operation of the act, if the department is given the sort of supervision it should have over its sub-divisions, with the power to make investigations and examinations similar to those it now makes for agricultural colonization projects.

The law contemplates that the department shall be self-supporting and since it has been operating, a total of $151,250.71 has been received from the general fund in excess of maintenance costs. The reduction in the number of brokers licensed will automatically reduce the income, while the addition of important activities, will mean a greater service to the state, meaning a better protection for the investing public and higher standards for all persons directly connected with the sale of California real estate."

FRIDAY NIGHT BOUTS PROMISE EXCITING TIME

One of the earliest, fastest and lightest weight veterans in the ring today will be pitted against one of the cleverest boxers in the Coast at Winters' Hall Friday night, when Denny Viera and Eddie Sylvester meet in the eighth round main event of the first Richmond Athletic Club show. It is a bout that promises a good attendance from many outside points, according to the requests for seats now being received.

Viera, an Oakland product, held his own among the heavyweight kings for years, fighting Teddy O'Hara, Danny Kramer, Babe Herman, Jack Silver and many more, and winning more than his share of the battle. He decided to retire from the cauliflower profession several months ago but the changing of the starting bell and roar of the crowd still pours music in his ear. Last week, he returned to the ring and in a six round bout at the Athens Club, he floored Hank Geysel three times in six rounds while giving Hank a painful lacing.

Viera will be pitted against one of the cleverest boxers in the game here Friday night, Sylvester, who recently came up from Los Angeles, has a pleasing record as a fighter, and in addition his boxing skill caused Joe Roche to hire him as a sparring partner in his training for his Lonski fight last week.

Eddie has beaten Frankie Brown, who is going great in San Francisco right now, and also beat Mike Doyle the great Indian fighter. In addition to a long string of other odds, coming with a shattering for "Wildcat" Eason, the great Filipino lightweight, in Sacramento Friday night. A capacity house is expected. Billie Burke will referee. The rest of the card stands as announced.

Frankie Bray vs. Benny Alger.

FATHER DENIED GUARDIANSHIP OF CHILDREN

A petition for appointment of Charles L. Jones, of this city, as legal guardian of his two minor children, Verna, aged 13 and Dale, 9, was denied yesterday by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie at Martinez.

Mrs. C. I. Shienbach, Jones, divorced wife of Charles City, Iowa, wrote to Judge McKenzie charging that Jones removed the children from Iowa to California and then applied for guardianship.

The divorce record does not state which parent would be awarded the children but stipulates that Jones should contribute $20 a month for their support. Judge McKenzie ruled that although the divorce record implied that the children should be awarded to Mrs. Jones but in the absence of special ruling, he did not wish to award the children to either parent. Mrs. Jones must come to California and institute legal proceedings to regain custody of the children.

Baseball Material At High School Is Plentiful This Year

The Richmond Union high school has had a turn-out of baseball players that will make an exceptionally good team this year.

With the starting out of the baseball season early in March, Coach Ivan W. Hill will have one of the strongest teams in the history of the school.

Many of his first men have been playing winter ball and are in the peak of condition.

Hill will be fortunate in having some good pitching material. He will have Blundy Villalobos of last year's string, and Gomez, from the Junior high, as his chief hurlers.

Following is the tentative string: Villalobos, p.; Gualdoni, c.; Johnson, 1b.; Holland, 2b.; Barberi, ss.; Girth, 3b.; Thompson, Pinto, Phillips, W. Gordon and G. Gordon, outfielders.

MRS. NELSON ILL.
Mrs. Della Nelson, of the Nelson Beauty Parlor, is confined to her home with an attack of influenza.

R.U.H.S. Five to Meet U.C. Frosh

Although the game with the California Frosh had been postponed last month, the local high school cager will meet the Bruin Babe team on Saturday night at Berkeley, at six o'clock.

On the same night the Frosh team will meet the Lick-Wilmerding team at seven o'clock and it is no doubt but the first string of the Frosh will go up against the Richmond for last Friday night's game proved them a shade better than the San Francisco team.

The second team of the Babes was rated about as good as the first string will meet Lick. Hill will probably use the following line up against California: Villalobos and Dyer, forwards; O. Johnson, center; Barberi and Gualdoni, guards.

An Agent of Activity

IN the one hundred and fifty years that have passed since the birth of the nation, the area of the United States has grown from the narrow strip of territory along the Atlantic seaboard to a domain of 3,000,000 square miles.

There is nothing comparable in the world to the varied and continuous activity in this vast area. The United States leads every nation in the world in industry, agriculture, and commerce,—in the output of its mines, the products of its forests, the crops of its soil, the goods of its factories, the volume of its trade.

It also leads in communications agencies for the rapid and dependable interchange of thought. Two-thirds of the world's telephones are today in the country's homes, offices, and factories. Fifty million times daily the wires that interconnect them are used for the transaction of the nation's business.

LETTER FROM POLAND TELLS OF CONDITIONS

The following are extracts from the letter of L. G. Lucanovich, a member of the Richmond lodge, Knights of Pythias, who is at Czestochowa, Poland.

In his letter to F. C. Blackhart of the local lodge, Lucanovich relates some of the conditions which exist in Poland at the present time.

Extracts from the letter which is dated December 12, 1925 follow:

"The conditions here are somewhat awful, mother's soliciting their young daughters, girls of 17 and 18 years old, beautiful girls, such things exist here to keep themselves warm and buy food, we in America do not know what poverty is, still we have poor people over there, but we can never bring the comparison with these people here."

"We have visited homes here, which were the most pitiful things to exist in any civilized country. I will narrate a case—husband sick in bed for the last two months, one of the children sick of malnutrition, no money, no coal, no food. We have donated to these people one ton of coal, 500 pounds potatoes, 25 pounds of smoked beef and made provisions for three months to deliver 6 pounds of bread daily, and 20 zloty to each family. Such items we have donated to 8 different families as this was given by three of us Americans, stationed here, the company having donated $300 to be distributed to the poor in Czestochowa, the same for Radom, Lublin, and Piotrkow. This little kind act of charity will be remembered by these people and also we feel more satisfied that we were able to do such a little thing."

In another paragraph Lucanovich tells of the efforts made to make Christmas a gay one for the poor children:

"We Americans are going to give a public Christmas tree some little presents and food to the most needy children and people of Czestochowa, and in doing this they will remember a dear collection that have been done by foreigners, which never before was done here."

The value of Polish money is also stated:

"The currency of Poland is zloty, today it was 10.53, officially falling down terribly. When we came here, the dollar was 5.18 zloty, but on the curb, the person who have dollars to sell would receive 11.50 and 12 zlotys to the dollar, we heard from good sources when the gold supply of Poland was 40 percent; today it is only 10 percent."
